THE NEW GOLD-FIELDS.

Different Trails Leading to the Camp of Gilpin Stampeders of the Bear Canon.

The Early Bird Does Not Always Get the Worm.

Wichita, Kan., March 11.—[Special.]—The Times-Eagle has received advices from Gilpin county, Colorado, stating that the Bear Canon gold fields are attracting a great deal of attention, and about two hundred people are now camped there. The Times-Eagle's correspondent says: "Gilpin county is the richest gold producing county in Colorado, and the Bear Canon district is the richest in Gilpin county. Bear Canon is a small stream which empties into Clear Creek, a few miles above Idaho Springs. The Bear Canon district is about eight miles from Idaho Springs, and is reached by a good road. The Bear Canon district is a new one, and has been kept very quiet by the owners of the claims, who have been working them for the past two years. The ore is free milling, and is very rich in gold. Assays have been made from ore taken from the surface, which have run as high as $1,000 per ton. The ore is found in a true fissure vein, and the ledge is from three to six feet wide. The ledge can be traced for a distance of two miles, and is known to be rich for the entire distance. The ledge is in a granite formation, and the ore is free milling. The ledge is in the Bear Canon district, and is owned by a company of Denver capitalists, who have been working it for the past two years. The ore is of a very high grade, and the mine is now being developed by a shaft 200 feet deep

THE TONQUIN WAR.

LORD DERBY'S OPINION.

London, March 11.—[Special Cable Letter.]—The London Standard, the leading conservative organ of the French upon Monday, March 3, preceding the fall of the Ferry ministry, had some remarks upon the Tonquin war. Lord Derby, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, in speaking the same day at Liverpool, said in reference to the Tonquin war: "I am not prepared to say that the French have not been justified in undertaking the war, but I am sorry for it, because I think it is a war which will not be popular in this country, and which, I have reason to believe, will not be popular in France." Lord Derby's opinion was shared by the majority of the English people, and the fall of the Ferry ministry was generally attributed to the unpopularity of the Tonquin war. The following cablegram from Paris, under date of March 4, shows that the French people are beginning to realize the seriousness of the situation in Tonquin:

The Sixth Nurse the County Board Seems to Overlook—To Relieve and Cheapen the Medical Staff with Nurses.

The second annual commencement exercises of the College of Physicians and Surgeons were held at the Grand Opera-House yesterday in the presence of a large audience, composed of the relatives and friends of the graduates. The stage was occupied by the faculty and officers of the college, Rush was President of the chair, and the regular exercises of the occasion were opened by Prof. D. A. K. Steele, who delivered the following report:

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY.

At the time of the second annual session of this institution the prospects were such as to promise great success, and the trustees, faculty and friends of the college were encouraged to persevere in the work of building up a medical school of the highest character. The session of 1882-83 was successful in every respect, and the class graduated was the largest that had received diplomas from any medical college in Chicago. The session of 1883-84 was commenced with a class of 100 students, which number was increased to 120 before the close of the session. The class of 1884 numbers 30, and the total number of students in attendance during the session was 150. The number of graduates in medicine from the colleges of Chicago is a matter of interest to the profession at large, and the following table, compiled from the last annual announcements of the various colleges, will be found correct:

Rush Medical College	120
Chicago Medical College	120
Chicago Medical College	120
